ASSISTANT, ASSOCIATE OR FULL PROFESSOR IN ACTUARIAL SCIENCE

The School of Risk Management, Insurance and Actuarial Science of the Peter J. Tobin College of Business of St John’s University invites applications for a tenure-track position in actuarial science beginning Fall 2015.

Applicants must either currently hold (or anticipate completing by August 2015) a doctoral degree in actuarial science or a related field. Applicants must show evidence or promise of excellence in research and teaching. An actuarial credential (Fellowship or Associateship) from a professional actuarial society is highly preferred. The appointee is expected to conduct research and to teach in actuarial science and financial mathematics.

Located in Manhattan, the School of Risk Management, Insurance and Actuarial Science is one of the oldest and most distinguished insurance education and research institutions in the world. The Actuarial Science Program was designated a Center of Actuarial Excellence by the Society of Actuaries in 2009. More information about the program is available at http://www.stjohns.edu/academics/schools-and-colleges/peter-j-tobin-college-business/programs-and-majors/actuarial-science-bachelor-science.

This position is contingent on budget approval. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching interests, a statement of research interests, two publications or working papers, and three references.

Representatives of St. John’s University will be at the Actuarial Research Conference at the University of California - Santa Barbara on July 13-16, 2014, the meeting of the Asia-Pacific Risk and Insurance Association in Moscow, Russia on July 27-30, 2014, the meeting of the American Risk and Insurance Association (ARIA) in Seattle, Washington on August 3-6, 2014, the meeting of the European Group of Risk and Insurance Economists (EGRIE) in St. Galen, Switzerland on September 15-17, 2014, and the meeting of the American Economic Association in Boston, Massachusetts on January 3-5, 2015. We would welcome meeting with interested applicants at any of these events.

Applications should be sent to Dr. Ping Wang, Director of the Actuarial Science Program of the School of Risk Management, at wangp1@stjohns.edu.

St John’s University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.
