Assistant Professor of Risk Management

The Dahlkemper School of Business at Gannon University invites applications for a nine-month tenure track position of Assistant Professor of Risk Management, to begin August 2015. The successful candidate will teach introductory and advanced courses in Risk Management and Insurance, and other business courses as needed. The position is responsible for the continuing evolution of Gannon’s unique Risk Management and Insurance program. The integration of Industrial Safety and Environmental Science courses is a unique feature of Gannon’s Risk Management Program. Involvement in various insurance organizations to foster and establish relationships between the University and various insurance companies is required.

Qualified candidates will be expected to engage in scholarly activities in keeping with the Boyer Model of Scholarship as is appropriate to the application and receipt of tenure and promotion at Gannon. Requirements include a Ph.D. or D.B.A. (completed by fall 2015) in Insurance and/or Risk Management or closely related field. Completion is required for the rank of Assistant Professor and placement on the tenure track. Extensive Insurance Industry or Risk Management experience combined with a related terminal degree may also be considered. Industry experience and previous, documented teaching experience are preferred. Certifications from recognized professional societies, such as CPCU (Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriter), are preferred. Ideally, candidates will have experience using course management systems for purposes of instruction and advising. Candidates must be able to support and promote the University’s inclusive Mission, its Catholic identity, and its liberal arts and professional education traditions.
