

Mary Kelly, PhD

Mary Kelly is a Professor in finance and insurance at Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo, Canada. Previously, she has taught at University of Calgary and worked as an actuary before entering academia.

As Chair in Insurance, she oversees the concentration in insurance and risk management for the Lazaridis School of Business and Economics. Mary is an active member of both the Southern Risk and Insurance Association and the American Risk and Insurance Association, and serves on ARIA's RITS Committee. She is an ex-officio member of the Insurance Institute of Canada's Academic Council.

Mary has consulted for several organizations including the Insurance Institute of Canada, the Insurance Bureau of Canada, and the Law Commission of Canada, as well as providing expert witness testimony at the Ontario Human Rights Tribunal. She holds a BMath (University of Waterloo), MMath (University of Waterloo), and PhD (University of British Columbia).