About IRFRC:

The Insurance Risk and Finance Research Centre (www.IRFRC.com), which is part of NBS, sponsors and directs primary research on insurance and insurance related risk research in the Asia Pacific. Currently, IRFRC is working closely with the Monetary Authority of Singapore and leading insurance companies to establish Global Asia Insurance Partnership (GAIP). The GAIP-IRFRC partnership is designed with the aim of improving insurance markets and risk management in the region, influencing national policy makers, promoting innovation and experimentation, and promoting talent development. In addition to teaching, the candidate is expected to involve in research projects (in areas such as InsurTech, data analytics, retirement solutions, catastrophic risk management, policy and governance) from GAIP-IRFRC and publish academic papers in high-quality actuarial science, risk management and insurance, business and finance journals.

Requirements:

Qualified candidates must have a Ph.D. in Actuarial Science, Risk Management and Insurance, Finance, Economics, or related discipline. Candidates for the Assistant Professor position should have some record of publications in top-tier journals. Candidates for the Associate Professor position should have an established record of excellence in research and teaching.

Key Benefits:

NBS offers an internationally-competitive salary commensurate with the candidate's qualifications and experience, as well as funding support for research and conference travels. The University will also provide subsidized on-campus housing, whereby residents have easy access to modern sports, F&B, childcare, and healthcare facilities in a campus frequently listed among the Top 15 Most Beautiful in the World. Faculty members also enjoy a low-tax environment (tax rate for the first US$100,000 income averages about 10%).

Application:

Review of applications and shortlisting decision will be on an on-going basis until the position is filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.
